MACVEAGH WILSON TO UNDER DIRECT FIRE

Assistant Andrew Resigns;
Scoring His Chief in Letter to President

Conditions in Treasury Department Criticized; Sensation Is Created

WASHINGTON, July 3.—A Congressional investigation of Secretary MacVeagh's administration in the Treasury Department is impending as one of the results of a row of long-standing between the secretary and one of his assistant secretaries, A. about $75 of jewelry. Not only work in Andrew's resignation.

A few hours later, Representative James Cox of Ohio, introduced a resolution, proposing a complete investigation of MacVeagh's administration.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Dr. A. Blatt Andrew today tendered his resignation to President Taft as assistant secretary of the treasury. In a short letter to the President, Andrew writes of conditions in the Treasury Department, which are alleged to be due to the attitude of Secretary MacVeagh toward many of his subordinates.

Secretary Andrew's letter charges that subordinates in the Treasury Department "have been hampered and discouraged at every turn by Secretary MacVeagh's idiosyncrasies and his incapacity for decision." It contains a scathing arraignment of Secretary MacVeagh's administration of the "government affairs," and created a profound sensation in official circles.

One portion of Andrew's letter to the President is susceptible of being interpreted to the effect that other high officials in the Treasury Department are dissatisfied with Secretary MacVeagh's treatment of them.

REFERS TO OTHERS.

"For further evidence of the peculiar difficulties which surround the handling of business in the treasury," he suggested that President Taft consult Lawrence O. Murray, comptroller of the currency; Leo McClung, treasurer of the United States; Joseph E. Ralph, director of the bureau of engraving and printing; Charles A. Kram, auditor for the postoffice; Frank E. O'Neill, commissioner of internal revenue; James K. Taylor, former supervising architect, and Charles D. Norton, Andrew's predecessor and former secretary to the President.

Andrew's letter to Secretary MacVeagh, advising him of the resignation, discloses the hitherto unpublished fact that MacVeagh was on the very verge of leaving the Cabinet in December, 1910. In one part the letter says:

"You cannot forget how I stood by you when you were on the point of having taken from your hands what probably was the most important undertaking of your administration."

Governor Wilson came out of the White House, sat in his chair, and his son crossed his legs and replied today to a bombardment of questions hurled at him by a group of reporters. He was looking rather careworn, and was asked about a likely choice for either the new national chairman or head of a campaign committee.

FACES BOMBARDMENT.

SEA GIRL, N. J., July 8.—"I have not time to think of all these things."

Governor Wilson came out of the White House, sat in his chair, and his son crossed his legs and replied today to a bombardment of questions hurled at him by a group of reporters. He was looking rather careworn, and was asked about a likely choice for either the new national chairman or head of a campaign committee.

Andrew's letter to Secretary MacVeagh, advising him of the resignation, discloses the hitherto unpublished fact that MacVeagh was on the very verge of leaving the Cabinet in December, 1910. In one part the letter says:

"You will remember that I did everything in my power to avert your humiliation, and that I finally agreed to resign and leave the service with you if your resignation became necessary."

SCORES CONDITIONS.

Dr. Andrew's letter to the President says in part:

"In presenting my resignation of the office with which you have favored me, I deem it proper to acquaint you with conditions which have existed in the treasury for the last two years at least, and which are of grave concern, not only to every official of this city, but also to the many thousands of citizens of this country, who have business to conduct with this department."

For a long time the transaction of much of the treasury business has been at a standstill and an outbreak of some sort had been imminent. Many able and energetic treasury officials have had to bear the brunt of harsh criticism from people outside who have suffered interminable delays in their business with the treasury, for which the Secretary alone was responsible, and at the same time they have had to submit to a series of events more harsh from MacVeagh's himself whenever he discovered that they had ventured to act upon something of minor importance without waiting his decision."

READY TO RESIGN.

Time and again heads of great distinction in the treasury have found themselves ready to carry on the business of the treasury and have been compelled to the point of re-

DULUTH, Minn., July 8.—Mrs. William White, Duluth; Miss Gladys Richardson, Bridgeport, Conn., and Langford Maddigan, Duluth, the latter a chauffeur, were killed early today on a country road, near Duluth, when a touring car, in which they were returning home, skidded from the road and overturned.

William White Jr. was seriously injured and is in a local hospital. Miss Gladys Richardson, daughter of Henry C. Turrish, a lumberman, was severely shocked, and lay apparently lifeless at the roadside until carried to a nearby farmhouse, where she was revived. Charles W. Fitzgerald, the sixth member of the party, was thrown clear of the wreck and escaped injury.

The party had spent the afternoon at the home of Miss Turrish and Charles Fitzgerald at the latter's cottage at Pike Lake. Miss Richardson was 20 years old, and her home was in Bridgeport, Conn. She was the guest of Miss Turrish. Mrs. White was about 55 years of age.

Yacht Is Reported Sixty Hours Overdue

Fears Expressed for Safety of Matoosh; Naval Tug in Search.

HONOLULU, July 8.—With the yacht Matoosh 50 hours overdue in the fourth biennial race from Los Angeles harbor to this port, anxiety has been expressed here for the safety of the swift little craft. The hope is held that the vessel has escaped disaster and the delay is occasioned by faulty instruments, including the compass.

"The face was full of power, force, splendid aggression and defiance, with glaring eyes and dilated nostrils," said the sculptor. "She seemed to be ready to strike, to balance her weight so that I portaried her upon her chair. I worked at both of the same time."

OROZCO'S FORCE FLEES UNDER FIRE OF FEDERAL GUNS

Huerta Dislodges Enemy From Its Point of Advantage and Drives the Soldiers Through Gulches at Bachimba

Engineers Discover and Explode Hidden Mines of Insurrectos; Mexico's Fate Believed to Hang on the Outcome of Present Engagement

AT GENERAL HUERTA'S HEADQUARTERS, BACHIMBA, Mex., July 8.—The long-awaited battle between the forces of Orozco and the federal army under General Huerta, on which hangs the fate of Mexico, began this morning at 6 o'clock, when the commander of the government forces gave the signal for a general advance.

Twelve thousand men are engaged on both sides, and the scream of shrapnel, mingled with the steady roar of the rifle fire, can be heard for miles.

During the night Huerta had executed flank movements which gave him a commanding position when dawn came. Aided by field artillery which poured a deadly storm of shells into the rebel stronghold on a mountain top, the advancing army of the government dislodged the rebels from a strategical point of importance and sent them headlong down the gulches, leaving scores of dead and wounded in the chapparal.

MINES PLAY HAVOC. The main divisions of the opposing armies are within rifle fire of each other, and the lines of skirmishers are lying in circles over a mile in length, with the sharpshooters working at each end.

FEDERAL LOSES SEVERAL. The federal column of 300 came up from the east, meeting a big detachment of rebels under General J. J. Campos. The government lost several men and retired a short distance. The rebels are fighting open along the small hills toward the west, the Diego mountains, where it is thought the strongest flank movement of the rebels is directed. Another federal column is coming up to the extreme west of Bachimba, being awaited by the rebel troops under Colonel Rogelio Gomez.

General Orozco and his staff have just reached the battlefield, having stationed themselves at a point just back of the eastern entrance to the canyons. He has dispatched messengers to all parts of the field. The rebels are using their small mountain artillery along with heavier guns, most of which are stationed at the eastern end of the pass which runs north and south.

The rifle fire from both sides has become heavy, while the shelling of the artillery is thundering incessantly. The fedorals are using at least three batteries of heavy artillery, while the rebels have but two.

Society Woman, Believed Insane, Creates Panic

SAN LEANDRO, July 8.—Supposed to have suddenly become violently insane, Mrs. Lawrence Bradley, society favorite and niece by marriage of W. J. McCoy, a Bohemian Club member and composer, locked herself in a third story room in the San Leandro hotel last night and screaming that she was being murdered in a panic in the hotel.

Watchman P. Jensen was called by the proprietor, C. Christiansen, who attempted to break into her room. The young bride attempted to jump from the window but was prevented by the watchman, who shut her in the door just in time.

The watchman quieted the woman and took her to the hotel, whereupon she ran down stairs and out into the street screaming. Jensen and City Marshal J. Penita gave San Diego.

OUTLOOK GLOOMY FOR DEPOSITORS

Bank Receiver Symmes Reports Cash on Hand Is But $98,236.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—Frank J. Symmes, receiver of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Bank, filed his report for the past year, today. The outlook for the 4000 depositors who lost their savings in exceedingly gloomy. There is $98,236 on hand, enough to pay a dividend of 1 per cent. There has already been paid but ten cents on the dollar, and the prospect for a speedy wind-up of the bank's affairs are not good.

Symmes declared that litigation could be avoided if a speedy settlement could be made. During the past year, however, he has expended $181,817 and received only $181,617. The expenses of running his office, however, have only been $643.

The securities held by the bank have not changed to any great extent. The total value is supposed to be $8,600,000. The mining stock owned by the institution has increased, however, by reason of the fact that property adjoining the bank land has been worked.

The Beamers have three children, and reside at 90 Porter street, where they own their home.

The husband says that his wife has frequently seized his revolver and threatened his life, and on one occasion snatched the gun at herself, her life being saved through the fact that he had previously exhausted the cartridges. He charges her with extreme cruelty.

OIL LANDS FIGHT IS CONTINUED

Details of Controversy Between Southern Pacific and Government Revealed.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—After occupying the witness stand all day yesterday, Charles W. Eberlein, former acting land agent for the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, was again cross-examined today at the hearings before the postoffice building, in an effort to draw from him every particle of information which he possesses regarding the Kern county oil lands, which the government claims were fraudulently patented by the Southern Pacific and which it is now seeking to recover.

Both sides hope to strengthen their cases by testimony which Eberlein is able to give.

Eberlein's story is, in brief, that he was sent to California in 1894 to temporarily charge of the land office here, that he immediately was placed in a position of difficulty owing to the conflict of authority between Vice-President William D. Cornish in New York and General Manager Markham in San Francisco, and that the lease by which the Kern oil lands were turned over to the Kern Trading and Oil Company, after an affidavit certifying that they were non-mineral bearing, had been signed by Eberlein, was pushed through and signed by Markham in the face of protests from Eberlein and Cornish.

Frequent interchanges of acrimonious phrases between Attorney Mills for the Government and Attorney Charles Lewers for the Southern Pacific have enlivened the proceedings so far, and darkened of "mysterious missing papers," given out by Lewers, have wrapped an atmosphere of mystery around his plans for the case. Both sides declare that the whole transaction will be gone into in all its angles and depths, and revelations more interesting than any which have yet been made are promised before long.

TWO ARTISTS TO SING AT U. C.

Program Is Announced for Next Sunday's Half Hour of Music.

Mrs. Britton will sing two weeks during her stay in Berkeley has sung before a number of local clubs and several times in concerts. While Herriman is a young Santa Cruz native, his name comes highly commended to the committee.

The program will be as follows:

Two old English songs: George Monna's "My Lovely Celia" and Dr. R. H. Heron's "The Red Rose Air." Mrs. Britton's aria, "Non onces à pourrir à ta voix," from "Madame Butterfly." Charles H. Tamm's "Champ Williams." "Mind the Day," Agnes Mary Lang's salam, and Victor Morris' "The Blackbird." Mr. Herriman's "Lullaby" and "Duke" will be the accompaniment for Mrs. Britton, and Mr. William Aydelite for Mr. Herriman.

IMBIBES TOO FREELY AT HIS OWN WEDDING

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—Declaring that her spouse became so intoxicated in celebrating their wedding that he had to remain at the scene of the ceremony home, Mrs. Gertrude Van Oorschot filed a divorce action against George Van Oorschot today.

The couple were married in San Rafael, March 8, this year, and very soon thereafter trouble began in Sacramento, at the home of the bride's sister, where her spouse threatened to leave her, and on May 19 seized a knife and said he would cut his own heart out. She declares that he boasted of his prowess as a fighter.

signing their positions because they were unable to obtain any opinion or decision from Mr. MacVeagh upon urgent questions that had been before him for many months.

"At the same time they invariably have been reproached by him for such limited action as they may have been compelled to take on their own responsibility.

Mr. MacVeagh's mental attitude is difficult to realize by those who have not had intimate every-day experience of him. Toward many of the high treasury officials he has from time to time displayed an air of suspicion and distrust which is but a reflection of the fact that these officials were men of his own choosing, would seem inexplicable in a man of normal mind. For many months at a time he has persistently refused even to speak to those officials of his department with whom he should naturally have been in constant personal communication.

"When Mr. Hilles was assistant secretary of the treasury there was at least one period amounting to several weeks during which Mr. MacVeagh refused to have any relations with him. I know there were several longer periods of curiously suspended relations with assistant secretary Norton.

ALLOWED ONE INTERVIEW.

"Mr. McClung, the assistant treasurer of the United States, affirms that he has only been allowed one short interview with the secretary during a period covering more than a year. Mr. Ralph, the director of the bureau of engraving and printing, has repeatedly complained of similar treatment of himself, and many other instances could be cited.

"In my own case, with an office adjoining and communicating with that of the secretary, the situation has been similar, although I have supposedly been the representative of the secretary in his dealings with 19 different bureaus and divisions of the treasury.

"I have not been allowed in the aggregate a total of more than one hour's conversation with him, including private interviews and conferences in the presence of others in the entire last year. Meanwhile I have sent him hundreds of letters and memoranda asking a decision in regard to matters urgently pending.

"On very rare occasions I have received a reply within a short time; in a few cases the reply has come only after the lapse of month; in many cases only after the lapse of several months (when not infrequently the matters had already settled themselves); but in the majority of cases I have received no reply at all. Yet like other officials mentioned, who have been refused an opportunity for personal conferences, I have been promptly criticised for any action or inaction or for conduct impossible.

"The conduct of business in a department under such conditions is of course impossible. The energetic young men whom Mr. MacVeagh was wise enough to select as heads of the various divisions have been hampered and discouraged at every turn by his idiosyncrasies, his astounding capacity for procrastination, his incapacity for decision, and the peculiar mood of suspicion and aversion to which he is continually subject.

"There has never been a time since I have been in the treasury when he had not labored under the delusion that some of those who are working loyally and constantly for him were in a cabal conspiring against him. This has led him to treat some of his most efficient aides with harsh ingratitude and with a lack of consideration that was little short of brutal.

"My experience in these matters is only the familiar experience of the majority of treasury officials. Mr. McClung, the treasurer of the United States in April of the present year, found the delays in decisions, distrust and complaints of Mr. MacVeagh so intolerable that he brought the matter to Mr. Hilles' attention in the hope that you might offer some method of relief.

RESIGNATIONS AVERTED.

"Mr. Ralph, the director of the bureau of engraving and printing and Mr. Murray, the comptroller of the currency, have been dissuaded from an intention to resign, due to no real or other than lamentable dissatisfaction with Mr. MacVeagh.

"It is the half hour of music Sunday afternoon at the Hearst Greek theater will be given by Mrs. Grace Hartzel Britton, lyric soprano, and Albert B. Herriman, baritone. Mrs. Britton will sing two weeks during her stay in Berkeley has sung before a number of local clubs and several times in concerts. ## FIND NO TRACE OF MISSING WOMAN

Mysterious Visit of Two Men to Lesley Home Is Being Probed.

The question whether the visit of two young men to the home of the late R. M. Lesley, Twenty-fourth avenue, shortly after the disappearance of his sister, Miss Nellie F. Lesley, Sunday evening, had nothing to do with the fact that the young woman has been missing since that time is being investigated by the police. According to Lesley the two men acted in a peculiar manner and failed to give a satisfactory reason for their visit to his home.

Miss Lesley disappeared from her home Sunday evening and although her family and the police have been engaged in a search for three days, no trace of the girl has been found. The police have been unable to work out any theory as to why the young woman should have left him and the fact that she went away from home without hat or coat, with the intention of meeting her father a block away at the moving picture theater, is taken to indicate that her disappearance was not voluntary, and that Miss Lesley has either met with some mishap or has been made the victim of foul play. She was a young woman of quiet disposition, in good health and happy in her home life.

Sunday afternoon two young men, well dressed and rather good looking, came to the Lesley house. They had been seen about the neighborhood before. When member of the family not Miss Lesley answered the door bell the two men seemed disconcerted. They asked for work, saying that they had lost their positions and wanted like employment. The request seemed a strange one and it was explained that there was nothing for them to do there. One of the two strangers craned his head past the glass door frame and attempted to look into the house. Then the two went away. As they were well dressed the request for work seemed strange. Nothing more was thought of the affair, however, until Miss Lesley failed to return home after going to meet her father.

Mrs. Kate Craig, Pioneer and Charity Worker, Dies of Pneumonia.

After a brief illness Mrs. Kate Craig, a pioneer resident of Woodland, and wife of Joseph Craig, owner of Highland Springs, and the daughter of John D. Stevens of Yolo county, died yesterday morning in East Bay State Hospital, where she had been confined for a year past, following an attack of pneumonia. While visiting relatives in Berkeley she contracted a cold which resulted in pneumonia. She had been failing in health for some time previous to her arrival in the College city.

According to a statement made by her attending physician, Dr. J. F. Kergan, her condition was almost hopeless when she arrived at the hospital, where he assumed charge of the case. Everything in medical science was administered to prolong her life. At the time of her death she was surrounded by her husband, Dr. Joseph Craig, and her three daughters, Jessie, Dorothy and Mrs. Craig, and her mother, Mrs. Stevens, who had been confined to a bed in the hospital.

"There has never been a time since I have been in the treasury when he had not labored under the delusion that some of those who are working loyally and constantly for him were in a cabal conspiring against him. This has led him to treat some of his most efficient aides with harsh ingratitude and with a lack of consideration that was little short of brutal.

THIEVES REPORTED.

Burglars entered the residence of Frank Ramsey, 841 Forty-second street, last night and ransacked the place, taking jewelry valued at $100. A watch, necklace, brooch and other jewelry were taken.

The offices of Dr. A. F. Werner, 1222 Broadway, were entered last night and surgical instruments taken. The office was entered from an adjoining room.

A. Wise reported to the police the theft of copper from the boat at 245 Fourth avenue, valued at $25.

The board of education reported that thieves had entered one of the houses obtained by the department in the interests of the school lands and that electrical fixtures valued at $30.

LONG LIST OF CRIMES PAVES ROAD TO PRISON

John Anderson and Fred Schaffer Get Heavy Penitentiary Sentences

More weird than the flights of fancy woven by Poe were the crimes planned and executed by John E. Anderson and Fred Schaffer, alias Williams, after over-indulgence in three barrels of old Italian wine found in the Anderson cellar after the former occupants had moved from the premises.

Debauches held for a period of several weeks, two highway robberies and a record of past offenses on the part of Schaffer including crime from grand larceny to cattle "rustling" are the reasons Schaffer was sentenced to serve 20 years in San Quentin today by Superior Judge Wells. His partner in crime, Anderson, received 10 years in the same prison.

Both men asked for probation but their request was denied. It was shown that they had deliberately entered into the criminal profession in a way and means of earning a livelihood without too much physical exertion.

Anderson rented a house in Thirty-sixth avenue, Fruitvale, where he wanted to live with his second wife and four children. Schaffer went there to visit him, often taking along his putative wife. The wine left by the former occupants of the house was then brought out and the men imbibed freely. On one of these occasions Schaffer, who had had more experience in criminal ways, suggested to Anderson that they could make some easy money. Accordingly the first job was planned.

WOMEN TO FIGHT RECALL MOVEMENT

"Woman's Good Government Club" Formed to Retain Officials in Office.

The "Woman's Good Government Club" has been formed with 16 representative club women at the head and their affiliated organizations on this side of the bay to send delegations to the national encampment of the organization, which meets at Los Angeles from September 9 to 14. The only elected delegates from this side of the bay will be J. F. Clough of Lookout Mountain post and Mrs. George Hodgman, president of Lookout Mountain Relief Corps. In addition to this, the past department commanders and the past department presidents are also eligible to attend as delegates. The headquarters for the D. A. R. and the W. D. C. for the District of Columbia, California and Nevada will be at the Hotel Alexandria and those of the ladies of the G. A. R. will be at the Angelus hotel.

A request has been made to the local commercial organizations by Captain W. R. Thomas, department commander, for assistance in entertaining the various delegations of the Grand Army who will pass through this city en route to the national encampment. The commercial bodies have been asked to supply automobiles and other vehicles to convey the visitors to the points of interest in and around the city during their stay. Colonel Theodore Gier of the Chamber of Commerce has agreed to take up the question of entertainment with the municipal authorities for the purpose of seeing if an allowance cannot be made from the public entertainment fund for the entertainment of the old soldiers.

At present it is not intended that any mass meetings shall be held or any campaign literature circulated. The chief activity will be directed toward personal work in "heart-to-heart talks" between the workers of the club and their friends and neighbors living in the communities.

Carefully arranged card index systems have been constructed at the headquarters office, by which the women are assigned certain districts to be interviewed, and through which a close check can be kept on their work as it is shown at the polls on election day.

"This is the first organization of the kind to be formed in Oakland and, because we are some of us experienced in such things, our work of organization is progressing slowly," said Mrs. Roos. "It is more an educational institution than anything else at the present time and there is no immediate intention of making it a permanent organization. The records and lists will be preserved, however, and if, in future, any issue should arise in which the organization could be used it can be brought to life again."

BURGLAR ALARM WORKS; SO DOES POLICEMAN

SAN FRANCISCO. July 3.—Paul Seller conducts an electrical establishment at 322 Market street, and among the conveniences for sale are improved burglar alarms guaranteed never to fail. Seller himself has put in operation one of the most improved patterns and therefore when Patrolman Coleman saw a red light, the signal of danger in the Seller store at 3 o'clock this morning, he was certain that a robber was in the building. Drawing his revolver he made his way to the front door, peered cautiously through the transom but could see no sign of life within.

He then went to the rear and finally discovered that a trap door on the exterior was open. Nervously fumbling his pistol he peered under into the dark depths beneath and flashed around his pocket lantern. After a half hour's work he became certain that there was no one in the backroom and stood guard until this morning.

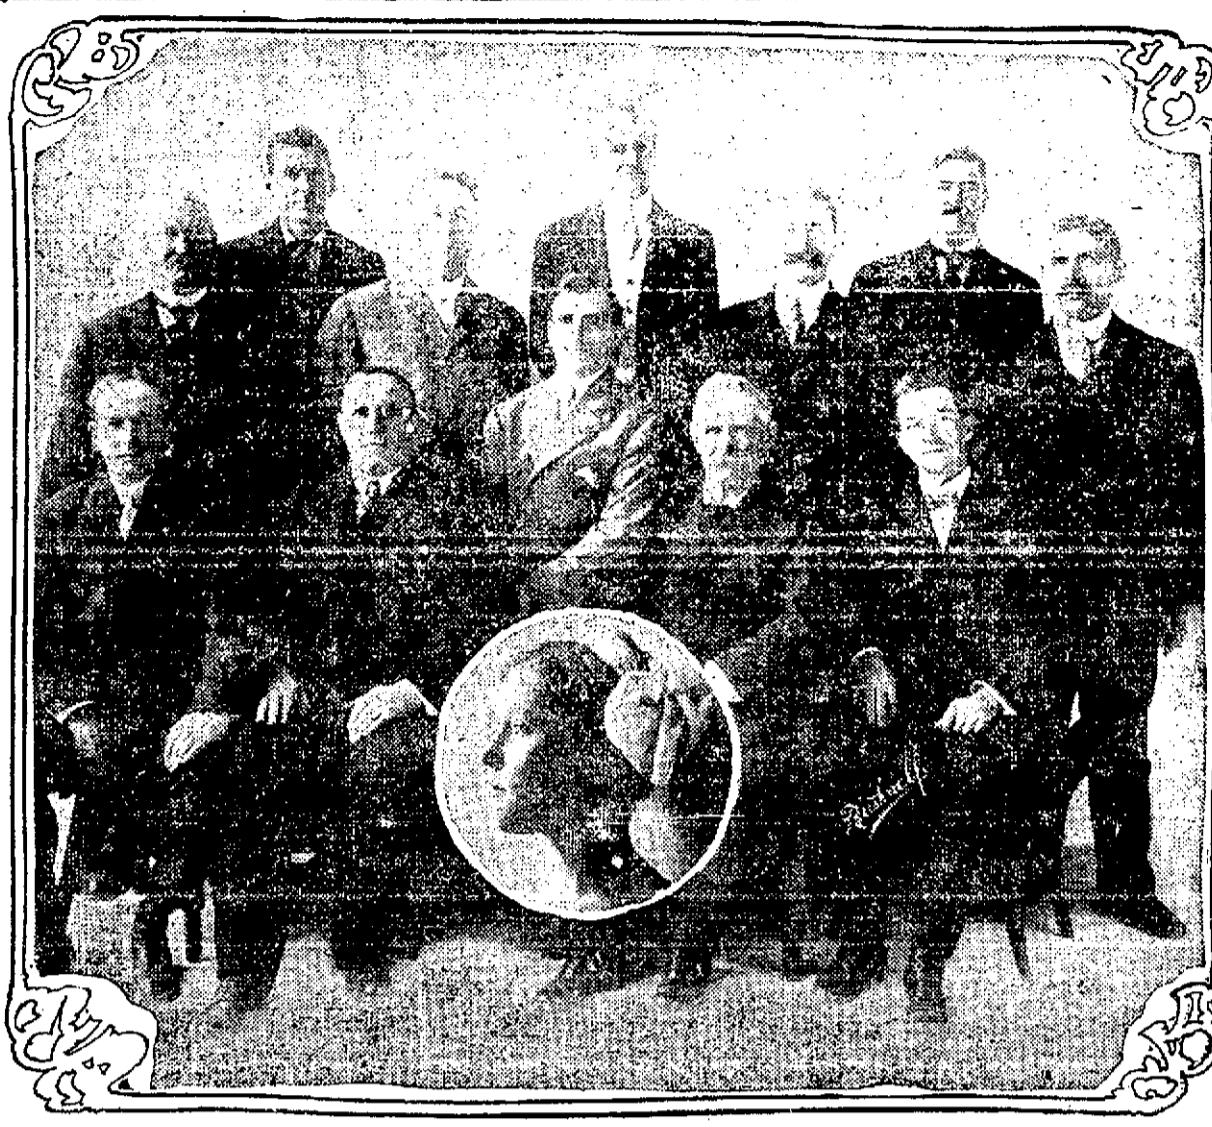

When a clerk arrived it was discovered that some one had left the door open by mistake and that a blind had hidden the light from the officer's gaze until he happened to observe it from a certain angle a half block away.

RADICAL PLATFORM ADOPTED BY DEMOCRATS

DOWNWARD REVISION OF TARIFF STRONGLY URGED

High Tolls Branded 'Principal Cause of Unequal Distribution of Country's Wealth'

BALTIMORE, July 2.—The Democratic platform, as submitted to the national convention contains upwards of five thousand words, the leading plans being devoted to the subject of tariff reform, the high cost of living and the anti-trust.

We, the representatives of the Democratic party of the United States, in national convention assembled, reaffirm our devotion to the principles of our constitutional government, formulated by Thomas Jefferson and enforced by a long and illustrious line of Democratic presidents.

TARIFF REFORM.

We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the federal government under the constitution has no right or power to impose or collect tariff duties, except for the purpose of revenue, and we demand that the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessities of government, honestly and economically administered.

The high Republican tariff is the principal cause of the unequal distribution of wealth; it is a system of taxation which makes the rich richer and the poor poorer; under its operations the American farmer and laboring man are the chief sufferers; it raises the cost of the necessities of life to them, but does not protect them from the high cost of living. The farmer sells in free markets and buys almost entirely in the protected markets.

In the most highly protected industries, such as cotton and wool, steel and iron, the wages of the laborers are the lowest paid in any of the industrial countries.

We demand a Republican stand on the subject, that American wages are established by competitive conditions and not by the tariff.

We favor the immediate downward revision of the existing high, and in many cases, prohibitory tariff, but insist that the material reductions be speedily made upon the necessities of life.

Articles entering into competition with the trust-controlled products, and articles of American manufacture, which are sold abroad, more cheaply than at home, should be upon the free list.

We recognize that our system of tariff taxation is intimately connected with the business of the country and we favor the attainment of the principles we advocate by legislation that will not injure or destroy legitimate industry.

The Republican party, in its stand in voting the bills to reduce the tariff in the cotton, woolen, metals and chemicals schedules, and the farmers' free list bill, all of which were designed to give immediate relief to the masses, has the right of the nation.

The Democratic party, while promising such revision, has shown by its tariff legislation, that such revision is not to be in the people's interest and having been faithless to its pledges of 1908, it should no longer enjoy the confidence of the masses.

The Democratic party, in its stand in voting the bills to reduce the tariff in the cotton, woolen, metals and chemicals schedules, and the farmers' free list bill, all of which were designed to give immediate relief to the masses, has the right of the nation.

The high cost of living is a serious problem in every American home. The Republican party, in its platform, attempts to escape from responsibility for present conditions, by denying that they are due to protective tariff, but we take issue with them on this subject and assert that excessive prices result in a large measure from the high tariff laws enacted and maintained by the Republican party and from trusts and commercial conspiracies fostered and encouraged by such laws and we assert that no general relief can be secured for the people until import duties on the necessities of life are materially reduced and those criminal conspiracies broken up.

ANTI-TRUST LAW.

A private monopoly is indefensible and undesirable. We therefore favor the vigorous enforcement of the criminal and civil laws against trusts and corrupt officials and demand enactment of additional legislation as may be necessary to make it possible for a private monopoly to exist in the United States. We favor the deduction by law of the conditions upon which corporations are allowed to do business in interstate trade, including, among others, the prevention of holding companies, of interlocking directors, of stock-watering and discrimination in price, control by any corporation of so large a proportion of any industry as to make it a menace to the public welfare.

We condemn the action of the Republican administration in a compromising with the Standard Oil Company and the Tobacco Trust and its failure to invoke the criminal provisions of the anti-trust law against these corporations after the court declared that the undisputed facts in the record show that they had violated the criminal provisions of the law. We regret that the Sherman anti-trust law has received a judicial construction depriving it of much of its strength and we fear that the administration and we fear that the administration of legislation which will restore to the strength of which it is deserved by such interpretation.

RIGHTS OF THE STATES.

We believe in the preservation and maintenance of the three co-ordinate powers of the federal government—the executive, the legislative and the judicial—each keeping within its own bounds and not encroaching upon the just powers of each of the others.

Believing that the most efficient representation under our system of government is to be had by the states, we favor the state of their reserved sovereign powers, we denounce as usurpation the efforts of our opponents to deprive the states of any of the rights reserved to them and to enlarge and magnify by the powers of the federal government.

We insist on the full exercise of all the powers of the government, both state and national, to protect the people from injustice at the hands of those who seek to make the government a private concern in innumerable fields of life in which exploiting interests can take refuge from both. It is necessary that the federal government shall exercise the powers reserved to them, but we insist that federal remedies for the regulation of interstate commerce and for the prevention of private monopoly shall be added to and not substituted for state remedies.

INCOME TAX AND POPULAR ELECTION OF SENATORS.

We congratulate the country upon the triumph of two important reforms demanded in the last national convention—namely, the amendment to the federal constitution authorizing an income tax and the amendment providing for the popular election of senators, and we call upon the people of the states to rally to the support of the pending propositions and for their ratification. We will give gratification to the unanimous sentiment in favor of publicity before the election, of campaign contributions, a measure demanded in our national platform of 1908 and at that time opposed by the Republican party, and we commend the Democratic House of Representatives for extending the doctrine of publicity to recommendations, verbal and written, upon which presidential appointments are made, to the ownership and control of newspapers and to the expenditures made by individuals of those who aspire to the presidential nomination.

We point to the enormous exports of money in behalf of the president and his predecessors in the recent presidential election for the Republican nomination for president.

REPUBLICAN EXTRAVAGANCE.

We denounce the prodigal waste of the money wrung from the people by oppressive taxation through the lavish appropriations of recent Republican congresses, which have kept taxes high and increased the expenses of the people's toll.

We demand a return to that party which is distinguished for its economy. The party that reclaimed and furnished the nation with a new and more efficient government must be jealous of its integrity.

We resent the attempt of the Republican party to raise a false issue respecting the judiciary. It is an unjust reflection upon a great body of our citizens to assume that they lack respect for the courts.

RIGHTS OF LABOR.

We repeat our declarations of the platform of 1908 as follows:

"The courts of justice are the bulwark of our liberties and we yield to none in our purpose to maintain their dignity. Our party has given to the bench a long list of distinguished justices who have added to the prestige and confidence which this department must be jealous of. We resent the attempt of the Republican party to raise a false issue respecting the judiciary. It is an unjust reflection upon a great body of our citizens to assume that they lack respect for the courts.

"We repeat the resolution of the courts to interpret the laws which the people enact, and if the laws appear to work economic, social or political injustice, it is our duty to change them. The only basis upon which the integrity of our courts can stand is that they administer justice and protect the personal liberty, if judicial processes may be abused, we should guard them against abuse.

RAILROADS.

We favor the efficient supervision and regulation of railroads, express, telegraph and telephone lines and the removal of the platforms of 1898 and 1904 in favor of a measure which will permit the exception of the preference of the electors for national candidates at presidential primaries.

We demand that the national committee incorporate in the call for the next national convention a requirement that all expressions of preference for presidential candidates shall be given and the selection of delegates shall be an alternative made through the primary election made by the party organization in each state where such expression and election are not provided for by state law.

Complaints to the national committee concerning the right of the party to nominate at such primary election and the service and authority of committee members, shall begin immediately upon the receipt of the credentials respectively.

Campaign contributions: We pledge the Democratic party to the enactment of a law prohibiting any corporation from contributing any sum to the campaign fund or any individual from contributing any amount above a reasonable maximum.

Terms of President. We favor a single presidential term and to that end urge the adoption of an amendment to the constitution making the President of the United States ineligible for re-election.

BANKING LEGISLATION.

We oppose the so-called Aldrich bill or the establishment of a central bank, and we believe the people of the country will be largely freed from panics and from unemployment and industrial depression by such a system of regulation of our banking laws as will render temporary relief in localities where such relief is needed, with protection from control or domination by what is known as the money trust.

Banks exist for the accommodation of the public and not for the control of business. All legislation on the subject of banking and currency should have for its purpose the securing of these accommodations on terms of absolute security to the public and of complete protection from the misuse of the power that wealth gives to the wealth possessed.

We condemn the present methods of depositing government funds in a few favored banks, largely situated in or controlled by Wall street, in return for political favors and we pledge our party to provide by law for the deposit by competitive bidding in the banks of the country, the national and state, without discrimination as to locality upon approved securities and subject to call by the government.

RAILROAD CREDITS.

Of equal importance with the question of currency reform is the question of railroad credits or agricultural finance. Therefore we demand that an investigation of agricultural credit societies in foreign countries be made, so that it may be ascertained whether a system of rail credit exists in the United States and we also favor legislation permitting national banks to loan a reasonable proportion of their funds on real estate security.

We recognize the value of vocational education and urge federal appropriations for such training and extension teaching in agriculture in co-operation with the several states.

WATERWAYS.

We renew the declaration in our last platform relating to the construction of our waterways, the most important element of our waterways. The present devastation of the lower Mississippi valley, the inundation of rivers, the additional bank and levee protection below, and the diversion, storage and control of the flood waters above and the utilization for irrigation of the great areas of arid and swamp lands, and the development of water power instead of permitting the floods to continue as heretofore, agents of destruction. We hold that the control of the Mississippi river is the most important condition of the depth of its water for the purpose of navigation, the building of levees to maintain the integrity of its channel and the safety of the navigation of the land and its consequent destruction.

Immediate action should be taken by Congress to make available the vast and fertile areas of Alaska under conditions that will be a perfect guarantee against their falling into the hands of monopolistic corporations, associations or individuals.

We rejoice in the inheritance of mineral resources unequalled in extent, variety or value and in the development of a mining industry unequalled in its magnitude and importance and we pledge ourselves to the extension of the work of the Bureau of Mines in every appropriate form for national legislation with a view of safeguarding the lives of miners, lessening the waste of essential resources and promoting the economic development of mining, which, along with agriculture, must in the future even more than at present, be the very foundation of our national prosperity and welfare and our international commerce.

AGRICULTURE.

We believe in encouraging the development of a modern system of agriculture and a systematic effort to improve the conditions of trade in farm products so as to benefit both the consumers and producers. And as an effort to meet this end, we demand the amendment by Congress of legislation that will express the sentiments of the

DEMOCRATS ON TARIFF

WANT DEEP CUT MADE

The Democratic platform gives the following treatment to existing tariff:

"The high Republican tariff is the principal cause of the unequal distribution of wealth; it is a system of taxation which makes the rich richer and the poor poorer; under its operations the American farmer and laboring man are the chief sufferers; it raises the cost of the necessities of life to them, but does not protect their product or wage. "We denounce the action of President Taft in vetoing the bills to reduce the tariff in the cotton, woolen, metals and chemicals schedules and the farmers' free list bill, all of which were designed to give immediate relief to the masses from the exactions of the trusts."

party pledges itself to the enactment of legislation leading to that end.

We favor the co-operation of the United States and the respective states in plans for the comprehensive treatment of all inland waterways with a view to their development and improvement.

"It has required the publicity of campaign expenses both before and after election and fixed a limit upon the election expenses of United States Senators and Representatives.

"It has also passed a bill to prevent the abuse of the writ of injunction.

"It has passed a law establishing an eight-hour day for workmen on all national projects and an amendment which forced the President to take immediate steps to abrogate the Russian treaty.

"And it has passed a bill to prevent the abuse of the writ of injunction.

"We favor the adoption of a liberal and comprehensive plan for the development and improvement of our inland waterways with economy and efficiency so as to permit their navigation by vessels of standard craft.

POSTROADS.

We favor national aid to state and local authorities in the construction and maintenance of postroads.

RIGHTS OF LABOR.

We repeat our declarations of the platform of 1908 as follows:

"The courts of justice are the bulwark of our liberties and we yield to none in our purpose to maintain their dignity. Our party has given to the bench a long list of distinguished justices who have added to the prestige and confidence which this department must be jealous of. Complaints to the national committee concerning the right of the party to nominate at such primary election and the service and authority of committee members, shall begin immediately upon the receipt of the credentials respectively.

CAMPAGNONS.

We oppose the so-called Aldrich bill or the establishment of a central bank, and we believe the people of the country will be largely freed from panics and from unemployment and industrial depression by such a system of regulation of our banking laws as will render temporary relief in localities where such relief is needed, with protection from control or domination by what is known as the money trust.

RAILROAD CREDITS.

Of equal importance with the question of currency reform is the question of railroad credits or agricultural finance. Therefore we demand that an investigation of agricultural credit societies in foreign countries be made, so that it may be ascertained whether a system of rail credit exists in the United States and we also favor legislation permitting national banks to loan a reasonable proportion of their funds on real estate security.

We recognize the value of vocational education and urge federal appropriations for such training and extension teaching in agriculture in co-operation with the several states.

WATERWAYS.

We renew the declaration in our last platform relating to the construction of our waterways, the most important element of our waterways. The present devastation of the lower Mississippi valley, the inundation of rivers, the additional bank and levee protection below, and the diversion, storage and control of the flood waters above and the utilization for irrigation of the great areas of arid and swamp lands, and the development of water power instead of permitting the floods to continue as heretofore, agents of destruction. We hold that the control of the Mississippi river is the most important condition of the depth of its water for the purpose of navigation, the building of levees to maintain the integrity of its channel and the safety of the navigation of the land and its consequent destruction.

Immediate action should be taken by Congress to make available the vast and fertile areas of Alaska under conditions that will be a perfect guarantee against their falling into the hands of monopolistic corporations, associations or individuals.

We rejoice in the inheritance of mineral resources unequalled in extent, variety or value and in the development of a mining industry unequalled in its magnitude and importance and we pledge ourselves to the extension of the work of the Bureau of Mines in every appropriate form for national legislation with a view of safeguarding the lives of miners, lessening the waste of essential resources and promoting the economic development of mining, which, along with agriculture, must in the future even more than at present, be the very foundation of our national prosperity and welfare and our international commerce.

AGRICULTURE.

We believe in encouraging the development of a modern system of agriculture and a systematic effort to improve the conditions of trade in farm products so as to benefit both the consumers and producers. And as an effort to meet this end, we demand the amendment by Congress of legislation that will express the sentiments of the

We welcome New Mexico and Arizona to the sisterhood of states and heartily congratulate them upon their auspicious beginning of great and glorious careers.

SULPHURRO

Sulphurro Bath
A Health-Giving,
Pleasing Luxury

Great Aid in Purifying System and Necessity in Fighting Disease.

J. M. C. Stewart Sulphur Co., Seattle.
Gentlemen: Rheumatism completely cured me from within and I began at once using Sulphurro as directed and in three days was back at work. I continue using Sulphurro and have never enjoyed as good health as at present.
LAWRENCE LEED,
Furser Str. Atlanta.
Seattle.

One of the most delightful forms of the Sulphurro treatment is the Sulphurro bath. Softening and purifying the water.
Sulphurro used in this manner is a health-giving luxury. It stimulates and invigorates the system when you are well; it is most beneficial in the quick cure of disease.

In bad cases of rheumatism or any kidney, skin or blood disease, the Sulphurro bath should be used. It is essential to keep the pores of the skin open and breathing, as they assist the kidneys in their function of throwing off waste matter.
The baths also furnish another means of getting more Sulphurro into the blood.

The Sulphurro bath is essential in the cure of disease; a rest for the fatigued and a luxury for all.

Each bottle of Sulphurro is accompanied by an interesting 22-page booklet.
This booklet we will be glad to forward you upon request. Sulphurro at all drugstores; bottles 50 cents and $1. THE C.

FROM MISTRESS

Animal Attacks Woman, Then
Forces Doctor to Attend
Her Over Fence.

MELROSE, July 3.—An infuriated bulldog, parading about the yard of 5555 Fifty-fifth avenue yesterday afternoon kept half a dozen women, including Mrs. W. B. Bridge, wife of the supervisor, imprisoned in the home of Mrs. E. Robinson, who had been severely bitten by the animal, kept Mr.
Morris Harvey from entering the house after having forced him to administer "first aid" over the garden fence, and ended its career by attacking Captain Thornwald Brown of the Melrose police, who rushed to the scene in the police automobile to rescue the frightened woman. The animal was finally shot by Captain Brown as the only way of reaching the wounded woman.

The dog, which was owned by Mrs.
Robinson, attacked her as she was entering the gate. Her screams aroused the neighbors, who went to her rescue. The woman was later removed to the county infirmary.

PORTERVILLE, July 3.—Joseph Shepherd, a son of Dr. H. M. Shepstarted the machinery in their irriga-

Striking diagonally across his hand, the blow was heavy enough to crush the bones into pulp from a point a

Democrats Need Aid of Sullivan and Taggart, Asserts Colonel.

THEREFORE, NEW PARTY IS NECESSARY, HE SAYS

Call for Progressive Convention at Chicago May Be Issued Tomorrow.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 3.—"I shall, of course, continue to stand for the progressive nomination," said Colonel Roosevelt last night, after he heard of the nomination of Woodrow Wilson.

The former President stated his belief that events in the Democratic as well as the Republican convention demonstrated that the new party was needed.

The national convention of the new party will be held in Chicago, it was decided yesterday, probably during the first week in August.

This is Colonel Roosevelt's statement:

"Before I left Chicago and again at Oyster Bay when Comptroller Prender-gton of New York came out to see me, I said that the new party movement and my candidacy would not be in any way affected by the outcome at Balti-

POET ENTERTAINS IN BELOVED ARCADY

A group of visiting clubwomen assembled outside of what was the home of Joaquin Miller's mother at "The Heights." Reading from left to right those in the front row are: Mrs. W. W. Rice, Wisconsin; Mrs. S. S. Robinson, Oklahoma; Miss Harriette C. Shirk, Pennsylvania; Mrs. Philip Brown, Oklahoma; Mrs. W. A. McDougal, Oklahoma; Juanita Miller; Mrs. W. P. Nye, Southern California; Mrs. O. L. Houts, Santa Rosa. Standing behind are Mrs. E. J. Dockrey, Idaho; Mrs. J. B. Hunter, Oklahoma; Mrs. C. E. Barber, Monterey, Cal.; Mrs. Frances Smith, Oakland, Cal.; Mrs. Halbert W. Chappell, Oakland, Cal.; Mrs. W. H. Davies, Monterey, Cal.

CLUBWOMEN KNEEL AT FEET OF JOAQUIN MILLER

'Come, Sit Ye Down Upon the Grass,' He Bids Them in Day of Memories

"Come; let us sit upon the grass. King Lear welcomes you!"

It was Joaquin Miller who spoke; Joaquin, the heroic; Joaquin, the Sierra Sage, and the idol of our Western dreams; but the voice was that of an old man who is tired and anticipates his rest.

A half hundred chattering clubwomen had been waiting for his appearance. They were gathered in a little glade before the old-fashioned little cottage that was the home of the poet's mother at "The Heights," in Fruitvale, and they were waiting at punctual intervals for a crystal bowl held by Juanita, Joaquin's daughter, shy, alluring, the personification of her father's songs of the Sierras.

They saw the poet first through an arched vista coming forward to meet them. He was walking slowly and painfully, supported by Takechi Kannou, husband of Gertrude Boyle, the artist. Behind the fair-haired Mrs. Abigail Leland Miller, the poet's wife.

Clad in his accustomed suit of corduroys and top boots, Miller faced his guests, speaking so low that few could catch the words:

LIKE KING LEAR.

"Come; let us sit upon the grass. King Lear welcomes you!" The venerable bard was not unlike Shakespeare's unfortunate ruler in form and countenance as he continued to stand there regarding the women thoughtfully, apparently expecting them to obey him.

But then there was a sudden motorless rush to assist him to the little porch, and there he was quickly surrounded and hemmed in by women, many of whom represented Eastern newspaper and saw here a story "worth the wires," while others were women of letters who treasured each word from the poet's lips, each wave of his thin hand as a souvenir of priceless value.

Mrs. Phillip Brown, vice-president of the Oklahoma State Federation, and herself a newspaper woman, attempted to start the ball rolling by saying sweetly:

"Mr. Miller, these ladies represent almost every state in the Union, and they are all your admirers. Wouldn't you like to shake hands with them?"

"No," said the poet whimsically, "I'm afraid of them," but a moment later Mrs. W. W. Rice of Wisconsin proffered her hand, and Miller grasped it after first blowing her a kiss.

"Mr. Miller," suggested someone, "the newspapers said you would read us a poem."

"All men are ham," was the philosopher's reply.

"How about women?"

"All women are pretty."

"Which proves?" persisted a feminine voice.

"That I am a diplomat," was Miller's quick retort.

GREETS OLDEST DELEGATE.

Mrs. Miller entered the proceedings at this juncture to introduce Mrs. Ada Van Pelt of Los Angeles, the oldest delegate to the convention, and the "mother of the federation." They made a striking picture as they clasped hands. Mrs. Van Pelt wore pinned to her lace collar a garnet cross presented to her by a Tennessee regiment while she was acting as president of the Red Cross Society of California during the Spanish-American war. She explained it all to Joaquin with childish delight, and also showed him a medallion which she wore on a chain about her neck, containing a portrait of her grandfather, one of the heroes of the war of 1812.

Miller's eyes lighted with interest at the recital and when Mrs. Van Pelt, her gray curls bobbing earnestly, recalled to the poet's memory that they were childhood friends, and that she used to live once in these Fruitvale hills, his delight increased, and he stroked her hand and called her "Daed."

There were many present who had read Miller's poem on Columbus, and one among the number asked what formed the inspiration for the ode.

"It was the spirit of progress, the 'set there' idea."

"Come, I will show you how hard I have worked up here for thirty years," he told them. "I have planted all these trees and built four miles of stone fence with my own hands. This was all as bald as you hand once. Now look at it." Miller's back unconsciously straightened and his voice grew firmer as he showed his visitors thriving young forests of eucalyptus, rose-carpets, and beyond, stretching downward, teaming cities to the sea, and San Francisco off yonder in the haze.

Miller's back unconsciously straightened and his voice grew firmer as he showed his visitors thriving young forests of eucalyptus, rose-carpets, and beyond, stretching downward, teaming cities to the sea, and San Francisco off yonder in the haze.

FORCED TO SIT DOWN.

The journey about the grounds, however, taxed his strength too much, and he was finally compelled to accept a chair. Some visitors scurried onward to the quaint chapel and the tomb that Miller has built of stone for his own remains, and to other spots for which the "Waltz" has become famous, but the majority of the clubwomen clustered about the poet's chair and made notes, with pencil and paper, of every word he said.

"What a fine, healthy lot of people," observed Miller, slowly, and a little wistfully. "You know, I have decided to get well."

"That's right, that's right," chorused his guests.

"Yes, there's a lot I want to do yet. I am going to improve this place a bit and then I'm going to help San Francisco by moving it up here. I won't bring the men—just the women."

"Can't you make room for just a little of Los Angeles?" spoke up Mrs. Van Pelt.

"Yes," admitted the poet. "I like that country; we will take in a little of that, too. But I will have to hurry up," he continued plaintively, "for I get up every day, but I can't get around any more."

"Oh, you must talk of growing old," said the "mother of the federation," "you must get stronger and better every day. Why, your cheeks have the bloom of a boy of 16."

"Thank you, my dear," said Joaquin, quietly.

A little woman on her knees behind the poet's chair enquired forward with the announcement that even since she had seen Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard's "Little Joaquin" she had wanted to make the pleasant pilgrimage.

"He's a fine man," confirmed Joaquin. "He has his brain. I had a letter from him yesterday."

One of those in the surrounding crowd received a letter recently from Edwin Martin, man in the moon. In which Martin had said that he found inspiration for his writings in the name of "The Heights."

"Wait until I shake hands with myself," said Joaquin, and he dropped an orange in his lap and suited the action to the words, displaying an enormous smile—the only bit of incongruity about him.

Most of the women there were mothers and they were full of their praises of Joaquin Miller's famous verses which shall I tell you where and when?

The bravest battle that ever was fought, Shall I tell you where and when?

On the map of the world you'll find it not,

"Twas fought by the mothers of men.

"You must come up north to see our country," she urged, "we will take you all over in an automobile."

NEBRASKA OFFERS AIRSHIP.

This brought similar invitations from representatives of almost every state in the Union, and Nebraska offered an airship. Joaquin only smiled feebly and murmured acknowledgements.

"He's a fine man," confirmed Joaquin. "He has his brain. I had a letter from him yesterday."

MRS. ADA VAN PELT of Los Angeles, the oldest delegate among the clubwomen, known as the "Mother of the Federation," took the withered hand of Joaquin Miller in her own.

"You must not talk of growing old," she admonished, her gray curls bobbing earnestly.

"You must grow strong every day."

"Why your cheeks have the bloom of a boy of sixteen!"

"Thank you," said the aged poet, simply.

'KNOW WHY A DOG'S NOSE IS COLD?' NOAH BLAMED

Fast-Failing Sierra Bard Gathers Wits Together for Final Triumph

a dog kept fiddling around Noah's heels when they were in the ark with all the animals, and Noah kept saying: "Get out! Don't bother me!" but still the dog kept pestering around, until finally Noah grabbed him by the neck and stuck the dog's nose in a knot hole where the water kept running in and he kept the dog there until the flood went down. That's why a dog always has a cold nose.

Like so many children, these dignified clubwomen clapped their hands and laughed aloud in delight.

"Ever hear why a woman's elbow is always cold?" chuckled the poet.

"Never," said the women delegates.

"'Never' is a good name," asked the poet.

"Why did you build that quaint little chapel?" asked one serious little woman.

"DON'T BE SILLY."

"Oh, don't ask so many silly questions," he snapped, and then he relented and told them all about it. He was a charter member of the Bohemian club when first he moved to The Heights and his literary cronies, when they heard he was going to build a chapel, insisted upon assisting him. Catholics furnished the cross, others the stained glass windows, and a man who was a fire worshiper, insisted upon a fireplace. Then Miller made it a bedroom, where he lived for years during an estrangement with his wife and daughter.

When it came time to go Miller rose and spread his hands in benediction: "God be with you," he called, and one after another they came up to him and begged for autographs and a handclasp.

They got both, though he remonstrated a good deal at the first and offered a kiss as a substitute. Miss Vida Newson of Indiana was the last to say goodbye.

"I am so glad that you were born in Indiana," she exclaimed.

LEAVE HIM IN ARCADY.

"Thank you, my dear," was his rejoinder, and but in hand, they left standing there in his beloved Arcady.

Among some of the women delegates who were present at the reception held by the poet were:

Mrs. Mae Riley Smith, president of the Sorosis Club, New York; Mrs. McWhirter, president of Indiana Federated Women's Clubs; Mrs. Grace Julian Clarke, Indiana delegate; Mrs. Ada Van Pelt; Mrs. J. J. Hagerman, New Mexico delegate; Mrs. Phil Brown, vice-president of the Oklahoma Federated Women's Clubs; Mrs. H. H. Abbott, president Detroit Federated Women's Club; Mrs. Olaf Guldin, retiring president Indiana Federation; Mrs. J. H. Hornung, Fruitvale delegate; Mrs. R. A. MacKerricher, Oakland.

The pilgrimage to Miller's home was under the auspices of the Women's Laurel Club and the members furnished the refreshments and lunch which regaled the tourists. The Laurel Club was assisted by Civil Club No. 1 and the Women's Improvement Club of Diamond.

Automobiles were furnished by the United Improvement Club.

TAKE DRASIC HEALTH MEASURES

Oakland Board of Health Regulation Leads to Grand Jury Action.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—The grand jury, at their session last night, considered in great detail the recommendation of Dr. W. C. Hassler, Inspector of health, regarding the necessity for certain sanitary measures. Three resolutions were passed by the jury before their adjournment, and after they had made an investigation into the activity of the poolrooms. The resolutions were as follows:

"Resolved. That the grand jury here-with endorse the recommendation of Dr. W. C. Hassler, Inspector of health, regarding the necessity for certain sanitary measures. Three resolutions will be passed by the jury before their adjournment, and after they had made an investigation into the activity of the poolrooms. The resolutions were as follows:

"Resolved. That the grand jury here-with endorse the application of W. C. Hassler, M. D., for the appointment of at least three more inspectors to properly perform the work of their department.

"Resolved. That the grand jury endorse and recommend the petition of the board of health to the board of public works to proceed without delay to bring to legal trial and instill male reuils is that section of the city known as Butcherown, according to the plans recommended by W. C. Hassler, D. M. D.

It is understood that these drastic measures in connection with the meat industry are the result of the refusal of the Oakland authorities to allow San Francisco meat to be shipped to consumption in that city. An investigation has shown the great necessity for more sanitary conditions, and the grand jury has put itself on record in the matter.

$100,000 CORPORATION IS TO FINANCE WHARF

RICHMOND, July 3.—A big dock and wharf project for Castro point, near the Standard Oil refinery here, is brought to light in the incorporation yesterday of the Richmond Wharf Dock Company, capitalized at $100,000. San Francisco is named as its principal place of business, the location of the company to be determined in this section is given as Castro point; the life of the corporation is 50 years, and the stock is $100 per share.

The incorporators are A. S. McDonald and A. D. Flory of Oakland and Paul A. McCarthy of San Francisco. It is thought this new corporation has something to do in connection with the new Castro Point Railroad Company, now building three miles of railway from Winehaven to the Standard Oil wharf, under construction super-vision of Blake & Bilger.

Acme Wet Wash Laundry, 2859 Hannah street, Phone Oakland 1121, Members of Dubois Family Bitter Over Outcome of Utah Trial.

PRICE, Utah, July 3.—Waiting for John E. Brown when he walked from the courtroom where he had just been acquitted of the murder of James E. Dubois, was Jack Dubois, brother of the slain man, with a revolver in his hand. A deputy sheriff disarmed Dubois before he could execute his threats of vengeance against Brown.

The jury was out all night and reported at 9 o'clock this morning.

Brown, who is one of the wealthiest men in the county and commissioner of Grand county, shot and killed his daughter and her husband at a dance at Moab last November.

Then he barricaded himself in his home and resisted the officers all night. The plea of the defense was that Dubois had goaded Brown to frenzy by unfaithfulness to his wife.

The killing of his daughter, Brown maintained, was in self-defense.

Members of the Dubois family are bitter over the outcome of the trial and more trouble is expected.
